Beaufort County provides ideal habitat for the White Ibis and other wading bird species. Here there are plentiful waterways full of small amphibians, reptiles and crustaceans for food. The White Ibis is monogamous and lives in colonies. It builds nests of sticks in trees or bushes that often hang over water.

Wide steps at Fort Fremont lead to one of two batteries where canons once stood watch over local waterways during the Spanish American War and an open door appears to be an invitation to take a step inside of history. The 14-acre site is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. It was acquired by Beaufort County in 2004 for preservation as a public park.
